

Name _____

Unit 4 ADJECTIVES, ADVERBS, CONJUNCTIONS, AND PREPOSITIONS

Lesson 35: Using Good and Well, Real and Very (pp. 156–159)

Remember

Good is an adjective that describes a noun. Well is usually an adverb that describes a verb. It answers the question how. Well is an adjective when it means “healthy.” Real is an adjective that describes a noun. Real means “actual.” Very is an adverb that describes an adjective or another adverb. Very means “extremely.”

Write the word in parentheses that correctly completes each sentence.

1. Shake the bottle well before you use it. (good, well)
2. All of our gymnasts did well at the tournament. (good, well)
3. That looks good enough to eat! (good, well)
4. Nita had the flu, but she is well enough now. (good, well)
5. You’ve been very thoughtful to me and my family, Duane. (real, very)
6. Very few people can read and write three languages. (Real, Very)
7. I was never very interested in watching football on TV. (real, very)
8. Uncle Jerome doesn’t feel well this morning. (good, well)
9. No one knew it, but the stone was a real diamond. (real, very)
10. I want a new bicycle very badly. (real, very)
11. Make sure the brakes are working well. (good, well)
12. Regular exercise will help you stay well. (good, well)
13. Give your shoes a good shine before you leave. (good, well)
14. Was that a real story, or did you make it up? (real, very)
15. We are all very interested to hear what happens next. (real, very)