

Name _____

Unit 4 ADJECTIVES, ADVERBS, CONJUNCTIONS, AND PREPOSITIONS

Lesson 35: Using Good and Well, Real and Very (pp. 156–159)

Remember

Good is an adjective that describes a noun. Well is usually an adverb that describes a verb. It answers the question how. Well is an adjective when it means “healthy.” Real is an adjective that describes a noun. Real means “actual.” Very is an adverb that describes an adjective or another adverb. Very means “extremely.”

Write the word in parentheses that correctly completes each sentence.

1. Shake the bottle _____ before you use it. (good, well)
2. All of our gymnasts did _____ at the tournament. (good, well)
3. That looks _____ enough to eat! (good, well)
4. Nita had the flu, but she is _____ enough now. (good, well)
5. You’ve been _____ thoughtful to me and my family, Duane. (real, very)
6. _____ few people can read and write three languages. (Real, Very)
7. I was never _____ interested in watching football on TV. (real, very)
8. Uncle Jerome doesn’t feel _____ this morning. (good, well)
9. No one knew it, but the stone was a _____ diamond. (real, very)
10. I want a new bicycle _____ badly. (real, very)
11. Make sure the brakes are working _____. (good, well)
12. Regular exercise will help you stay _____. (good, well)
13. Give your shoes a _____ shine before you leave. (good, well)
14. Was that a _____ story, or did you make it up? (real, very)
15. We are all _____ interested to hear what happens next. (real, very)