My uncle's neighborhood treasure hunt was a lot of fun for my friends and me. There were many clues, and each one was hardest than the next. There wasn't nothing easy about the clues. Some of them were strange and puzzling. Some clues were in silly hiding places. The jar of olives was in the silliest hiding place of all. The stranger clue of all was the picture of the airport. We didn't have no idea about the meaning of the clue. We finally looked in an encyclopedia!

The last clue was the more challenging of all. We had to find the words to an song to solve it. Nobody never gave up, though. My friend Max worked the harder of all. He was the one who finally found the treasure. The treasure was for all of us. We all got tickets for a boat ride!

The treasure hunt was a adventure, and the boat ride was a more bigger adventure than that. We all thanked my uncle for his wonderful clues and his generous gift. I have the nicer uncle in the world!
